Frequently Asked Questions

Who can be in a Life Group?

All ages are welcome, whether single or married, with or without children.

How often do Life Groups meet?

Life Groups meet 2-4 times per month at varying times and places. You can find a group that fits with your schedule. By making regular attendance a priority, you will benefit by forming deep connections and growing together in your faith.

How long are Life Group meetings?

Meetings generally are between one and two hours.

What is the format of a Life Group meeting?

Typical meetings include fellowship, discussion, and prayer. Some groups include a snack or meal.

What about childcare?

Some groups are adults only. Groups which include children handle childcare differently. Options may include:

Hire a sitter to watch children during discussion and prayer time.

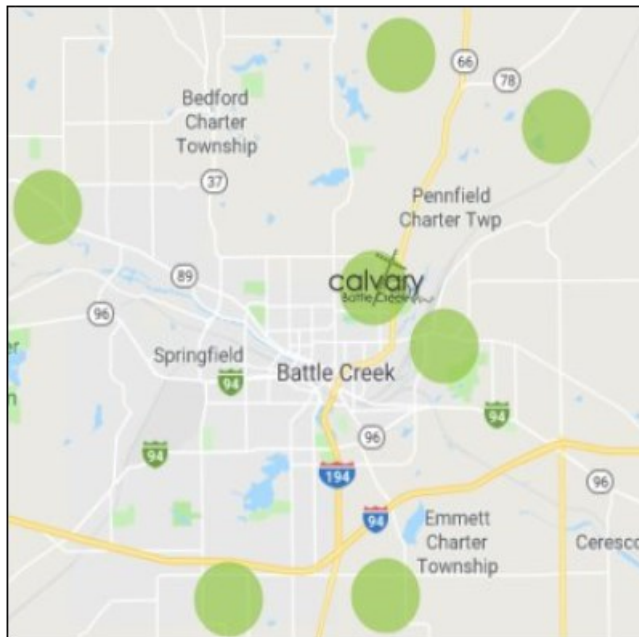

Use teenagers or other group members to take turns watching children.

Integrate children into all activities.

How long must I commit to a group?

You are encouraged to make an initial commitment of several weeks to have adequate time to get to know the members of the group. If for some reason, it is not a good fit, the Life Group leadership will work with you to find another group.

For information on each group, download the church APP for a current listing of group leaders, times, and locations of gatherings. The map below shows approximate locations of the current groups.
